REPUBLICANS REPUDIATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

By a strict party vote of 24 to 15 the Republicans of the House yesterday refused to pledge their senatorial candidate to cooperate with the President of the United States on strengthening the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In other words, the Republican party has placed its senatorial candidate above the President of the United States and when elected he will go to Washington unbound by any party promise to act with the people of Nevada upon one of the most important questions now being agitated.

When the Correll resolution was introduced, an attempt was made to shelve it and put it over until after the election of the Senator, and some Republicans voted against delay as they were desirous of pledging their candidate in advance of election upon this measure.

That evening a caucus was called and the entire Republican strength of the house pledged not to exact any pledge of their candidate.

The Appeal will say on behalf of Mr. Nixon that we believe him an honorable man and if he ever took such a pledge he would keep it to the letter. The facts that he instructs his following in the house to put themselves and the party on record as not daring to face such a pledge, a pledge to support the President of the United States in a just measure, indicated that he stands adversely to Roosevelt on this question and will so vote. When Mr. Nixon was a Democrat, he believed in just the thing which the President is now advocating, but since joining the Republican party he sees things from the standpoint of a capitalist and he has wedded his political fortunes to the corporations.

The lines are now being formed in which the great corporations and the allied trusts are arraying their strength against that of the people and the Republicans of Nevada have by a strict party vote thrown the weight of their party against the cause of the common people.

The magic name of Roosevelt and his policies carried Nevada Republican, but this was last fall. The Republicans of Nevada now turn their backs upon him and notify him that they have no further use for him or his policies of reform.

With this record written so plainly upon the wall, the Democracy of Nevada and its allies can take fresh hope for the future.
